FLASH

As we go to press, we have been notified that the Building Committee of the Mississippi Legislature has allotted $38,000 for the construction planned at the Valena C. Jones School. . . The State Building Commission previously allocated $12,000 for the addition to Bay High and the Federal Security Agency made $27,724 available for the improvement of the school. . . Commissioners Sylvan Ladner and Cyril Glover, Eugene Mogabgab, E. E. Breland and Professor S. J. Ingram were in Jackson Thursday trying to obtain the appropriation. . . Their success has now brought the total of state and federal funds available for this school building program to $77,724.

A traveling X-Ray laboratory will be made available by the Hancock County Health Department and the Hancock County T. B. Association to the residents of Hancock County, starting March 16. . . It is the duty of everyone to have their chest X-rayed. . . It will only take one minute of your time and may mean many more years to your life if you would unknowingly have the disease. . . The bus will be located at Bay High, Monday, March 16, 9 to 12; St. Augustine Seminary 1 to 2; Mercad's Store 2:30 to 5:00; Tuesday, March 17, will go to St. Stanislaus, 9:30 to 10:30; St. Joseph Academy, 11:00 to 12:00; St. Rose School, 1:30 to 3:00; Valena C. Jones, Wednesday, March 18, 9:00 to 11:30; City Hall, 1:30 to 4:00. . . On Thursday, March 18, from 8:30 to 11:30, it will be located at Webb School, from 1:00 to 2:00; corner Main and Spanish Trail, 3:00 to 6:00; Globe Laundry, Friday, March 20, 8:00 to 9:30; Waveland City Hall, 10:00 to 12:00; Waveland Depot, Highway 90 and Spanish Trail, 2:00 to 4:00; by Watkins Restaurant. . . Be sure and go; you do not have to undress. . . This health measure will only take a minute of your time.

Last week, we stated that a comprehensive zoning law would affect everyone already in business. . . This week, after additional study into the laws, it was found that a zoning law will not restrict any business in an area already zoned. . . Regardless of what may happen to a business, according to this law, it can be rebuilt. . . Be sure and read the proposed ordinance that will appear in next week's paper. . . It will contain all the facts necessary, and even though it may look a little long, be sure and read it thoroughly.

Mrs. Henry Leake, a Baptist Missionary to the underprivileged in the Ozark Mountains of Arkansas, will speak to the women of the First Baptist church here Friday, March 6, at 3:30 p. m. . . Mrs. Leake, who spoke to this congregation last fall in the Baptist School of Mission program, made such a lasting impression that she has been asked to return. . . Rev. S. M. Batson, urges every woman to be present and invites women of other faiths to attend. . . The church nursery school will be open to care for babies. . . Mrs. Leake and husband are presently conducting a revival at the First Baptist church, Long Beach.

"Mississippi Is Welfare State,"

"Whether we realize it, or admit it, we are living in an entirely new world from that in which we lived before 1933," J. A. Thigpen, Commissioner of the State Department of Public Welfare, told members of the Rotary Club Wednesday.

"Of course, we have the same sun, moon and stars," he continued, "but the things that men do have different motivations and require different solutions. As the Master said, 'Old things are now passed away, all things are new.'"

Mr. Thigpen stated that the changes could be met in three ways. As an illustration, he said, "let us suppose you were in a car which was running with no one at the steering wheel. You could sit there and 'cuss' and deplore the driver's carelessness, or leaving the car in gear; you could put your foot on the accelerator, and speed it up; or you could grab the steering wheel and gradually apply the brakes and save the car and yourself from destruction."

According to the speaker, many are in the first class who sit and "cuss" and wish for the "good old days" when there was no withholding tax and no need for welfare. "Actually, we would not want to give up any of the twentieth century magic which we ourselves enjoy, we would not want to suffer the inconveniences of the past in the present, but we would like to pay the same taxes we did in the horse and buggy days and have other people live as they lived then if it is going to cost you anything," he added.

Living conditions have changed he said, and the days when people could get by on a meager wage are gone; today, with people living in towns and having to pay additional rent and living costs the poor can no longer take care of the aged. Machines on the farm and in industry make it impossible for the old to find employment in many cases.

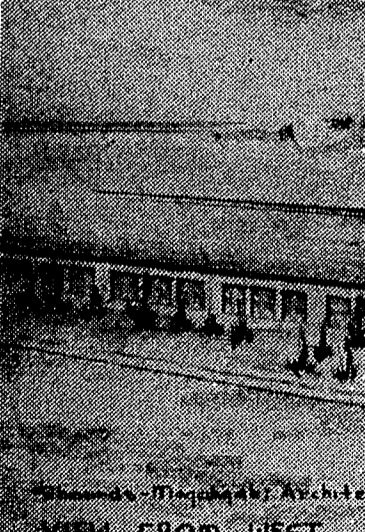

"The progress that some of us have made toward better living has tended to make living harder for the less fortunate. A Christian Society cannot let the aged starve to death. There is no magic that can relegate them to the 'good old days' while we maintain our machines and our luxuries," he stated. "The Lord of Heaven said, 'The poor ye have with you always.' Whether we like it or not, welfare is here to stay."

"At one time," he said, "I sat in the 'cussers' seat, but after much thought I have joined the third class and am dedicating my energies to see that the taxpayer gets as nearly a dollar's worth of charity for the dollar spent as possible under Federal regulations. The fact is that Mississippi is a welfare state."

As an example, he chose Hancock County.

He stated that last year total ad valorem taxes paid, as reported by the State audit Department were $221,789.48. The Welfare Department put into the county $112,000. In the next 12 months, they will put $145,000 in the county. The State's part of the 1950-51 amount was $34,182.22. Home owners got back for taxes on their homes $43,557.77. This is just one of the programs which brings money into the county.

According to the speaker there are 21 blind people in the county, nine totally helpless people for whom citizens would have to provide for if there was no welfare program. They are also assisted 264 old people and 188 children.

Raymond L. Moreau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Moreau, 132 Court Street, has received an honorable discharge from the U. S. Air Force.

Moreau, who had a rating of Airman Second Class, was stationed at Fiesler Field as a medical technician. He was called into active duty from the reserves when the Korean situation started; he has served for the past 21 months.

In June, he plans to enter pre-dental school at Mississippi Southern college. He is a graduate of St. Stanislaus college in the class of 1951.

Discusses School Lands at LWV Meet

Luther Davis, director of the Social Security Board of Hattiesburg, addressed the League of Women Voters at a meeting held Thursday, February 26, at the Youth Center. Mrs. Paul Miller, president, presided.

Mr. Davis, who completed his master's thesis on 16th Section Lands in Mississippi, gave a brief outline of the history of school lands and explained the existence of the lands.

The original idea, the speaker said, was to reserve sections out of each township. A school was to be built on each 640 acre tract and the remainder of the land was to be used to support the schools.

He said that if the lands were used properly, they would provide 13% of the total state income. "It is against the Constitution to sell 16th Section lands," he continued, "but the lands may be sold if they are located out of the county which owns them."

Mr. Davis explained that this was made possible by a Constitutional Amendment in 1942. Sixty-two counties own 16th section lands in Hancock County; some of these have been sold and the average sale price was $4.00 an acre, he added.

"Some of the land," he continued, "is leased for as little as fifteen cents an acre." Experts have declared that if 16th section lands were utilized properly, they would support present schools and finance the suggested improvement program with no taxation at all.

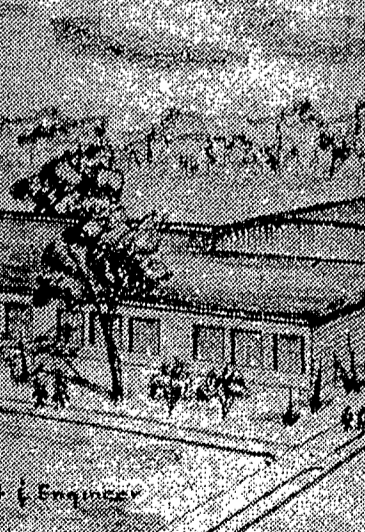

Trees on 16th section lands cannot be cut by anyone other than the County Superintendent of Education with the approval of the Board of Supervisors. Money realized from the sale of trees, the speaker stated, or any other method through 16th section lands, can be spent only for the schools with the permission of the 16th section trustees. . . It is compulsory to advertise for bids for sale of timber, but not for oil.

Mr. Davis emphasized the fact that there are laws with severe penalties covering misuse of 16th section resources; but, these are enforced only when the public is interested enough to demand it.

As a future program, the speaker suggested the leasing of the 16th section lands by civic organizations for reforestation programs, the trees to be sold by the County Superintendent for the benefit of the school fund.

If asked to sign a petition authorizing the issuance of bonds for the construction of an addition to the Valena C. Jones Colored School and the elementary building for the Central School here are the facts for your consideration. . . Section 8 House Bill 74 of the Mississippi laws of 1950 authorizes the issuance of bonds for the construction or additions to school buildings if the majority of the qualified electors of the municipal school district will authorize by petition the governing officials to issue these bonds for such purpose.

No. 2. By this petition, you will authorize the governing officials of Bay St. Louis to issue bonds in the amount of $75,000 for the addition to the Valena C. Jones school and the elementary building at the Central School.

"Sleepytime County"

Is Bay St. Louis asleep? For that matter, has Hancock County as a whole gone into hibernation?

What has it come to that we must have Mississippi Highway Patrolmen warn people passing through to beware of "skin" games and "speed traps." To add fuel to the fire, newspapers, with hundreds of thousands of subscribers have already splashed the fact across their front pages; but, that's our job, to print the news as it occurs. The unfortunate part of this news, which has been sent all over the country through the Associated Press and the United Press, is that people planning trips down this way are now aware of the conditions detailed in the newspapers.

Travel Associations, which contacted the local Chamber of Commerce in the past about correcting the "speed traps," such as were in existence on the highway several months ago and stopped, will publish this information in their magazines, etc. The result will retard tourist trade in Hancock County.

Industry, which everyone knows would bring new life to this area, will never locate here after a survey, which naturally is made by a community before coming in, would reveal the gambling conditions that exist in Hancock County. We know it is of paramount interest to secure some industry, regardless of how large or small. It is the lifeline of any town.

Hancock County is primarily a resort area; but, tourists will just pass through now to avoid getting "hooked" by some cheap gamblers who haven't enough gumption to get out and earn an honest living. Recently a honeymooning couple were taken for over $1200 in a "skin game" at an establishment located just outside the city limits. They could not get all of their money back and were given very little satisfaction. Do you think they will ever come here again? Do you think they went out singing praises of this community? They would have to be pretty broad-minded and generous to do so.

We were under the impression that gambling, in any shape or form, was illegal in Hancock County. What do you call these "skin games" if they aren't gambling? It is not always possible to learn the location of such establishments, but once found, our law enforcement officers should arrest the operators and close the business. Husbands and wives, then, they should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

HONEST business people in Bay St. Louis are the ones to suffer from the greed and laziness of these citizens who have brought disgrace and shame to the community by setting their games up just outside the city. Why can't they, like many others leave the "BIG MONEY" alone and become honest and respectable citizens?

Now is the time for the good people in Bay St. Louis to join together and wipe out these "gangsters" who are ruining the reputation of our fair city. Everyone in Bay St. Louis, particularly the business-men should appeal to the highest authorities to bring an end to these "shakedown" and remove the blight that has been placed on the name of our community. Now is the time to meet, while this activity is still going on, and decide on a course of action. It is the salvation for Bay St. Louis.

As far as organized gambling and slot machines in the city limits, they are non-existent; our City officials have made every effort to keep it clean. There are certain places in the County where injunctions against gambling have been issued, that slots, etc., are still in operation.

Now, we all love home rule; but when local officials do not enforce the law, an appeal must be made to the State.

Let's rid the community of the gamblers and shakedown artists operating the "speed traps." Citizens' action will bring results; otherwise, the same things will continue until tourists will actually bypass Bay St. Louis. Would you want this?

Wayne Ducombe and Frank J. An and Misses Mary Hale and Kathleen Rinschaw.

The Pilgrimage was climaxed with a visit to the estate of Dr. Emmett L. Irwin, "Dorwood-on-the-Jordan." Amid sheltering woodland lanes, bordered with coming azaleas, cultivated flowers, and many varieties of wild roses, the pilgrims wandered their way to the formal gardens, which surrounded the Irwin home.

A variety of flowers are planted on the grounds to add to the beauty of the colonial home, rustic rumpus house with its outdoor and indoor barbecue pits, land hewn beams and furnishings. City Council Tentatively Approves Suggested Zoning Ordinance

A suggested Ordinance by a group of citizens of Bay St. Louis was presented to the Commission Council of the City, Wednesday, March 4, at the City Hall. The Ordinance being to restrict the construction of any further business in the area covering the north side of deMontigny avenue, westerly to the eastern boundary line of North Second street, thence Northerly to the northern boundary line of the Corporation Limits of Bay St. Louis, which area would include at least one thousand (1000) feet from the Beach Road back.

The Commission Council by a unanimous vote tentatively approved the Ordinance, subject to certain revisions and subject to sufficient protests being filed as presented to the Commission Council by all citizens, taxpayers, property owners and other parties in interest at a public meeting to be held at a time and place to be announced later.

Members of the Commission Council said no further Building Permits would be issued by the Council in this area until the Ordinance is finally disposed of by the Council, or unless by a Court Order compelling the Council to issue a Permit.

This proposed Ordinance when placed in the proper form will be published at least three times in a newspaper in the city giving the public notice to be present at the date to be fixed for the final hearing of the proposed Ordinance.

Prizes awarded to the women were a glass, a hairbrush, a complete outfit, soft ball and a belt, and a flash light. . . Members were reminded that Sunday is the Monthly Holy Communion Sunday and they were urged to attend with their sons. Breakfast will be served following the Mass in the church room.

C. LEAMING "Enoch Arden" was presented last summer by the New Orleans Theatre of Music, which specializes in the unusual. It is hoped that the intimate quality of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will provide a proper setting for this interesting work.

As a work, it stands pre-eminent in its class due to the composer, the poet and the subject matter. It was introduced to the American public by Richard Strauss, then a rising young pianist-composer, touring the United States. The Board of Directors of the Little Theatre feel they have taken a step in the right direction by offering this outstanding musical event to its members.

L. ODEN Mr. Oden's piano score is a photostat copy from the only known copy in existence. The original was destroyed by bombing during World War II.

It is interesting to note that recently a professional recording of this work was made in New York by the young Canadian pianist, Gordon Manley, who heard Mr. Oden playing it while he was in New Orleans.

The same staging devices will be employed as in the New Orleans production. This presentation is greatly enhanced by the clever manipulation of lighting effects, handled by Mark Solomon, Camille Schaffer and Robert Sharrif.

This performance is complimentary to the membership and will not be counted as one of the five scheduled plays. Membership cards will be issued at the Little Theatre the evening of production, or send a check to the Treasurer, Box 91, Bay St. Louis.

P-T-A VOICES DISAPPROVAL OF GYM MANAGEMENT

At a recent meeting of the Pass Christian Public School P-T-A, Superintendent J. H. Norman, brought to the attention of the group certain practices and expenditures occurring in the Pass High gymnasium which in his opinion, need correction, clarification, and a more definite designation of authority and responsibility.

Mr. Hall pointed out that walls had been repeatedly defaced, there had been an abuse of equipment such as broken lockers, broken doors, damage to box seats, etc. He sighted maintenance expenditures such as cost of floor waxing machine, and materials used in waxing floors. He made the group cognizant of the size of the gymnasium and of the time and labor element involved in keeping it clean.

Since the gymnasium is used by both the Pass High and the St. Joseph's parochial school, Mr. Hall said in effect that he felt a direct responsibility for the condition of the gym should be assumed by the group using it. In other words, an adult should accompany students and assume responsibility for the actions of the group. He also expressed the opinion that maintenance expenses should be prorated.

A discussion followed Mr. Hall's comments, and a letter was drafted by the P-T-A executive committee, read before the assembly, and sent to the Parochial School, suggesting that a plan mutually agreeable to both schools be worked out. The letter was sent with no protest from any member of the P-T-A. Present at the meeting, and the P-T-A, assumed that it was a matter of assent by the group.

It is understood that the Motion Picture Club of the parochial school brought the letter up for group discussion at its last meeting.

Plans are current to bring the matter of the gymnasium management before the School Board at its next regular meeting. Some suggestions have been made that a stipulated gate receipt be collected for use of the gym so that funds will be on hand for the payment of lights, electricity, cleaning and polishing materials, repairs of damages, and labor cost in maintaining the gymnasium.

New users, such as Teen-Town, which endeavors to give teenagers supervised recreation and planned entertainment, feel that lack of funds would prohibit use of the gymnasium as a meeting place. Teen-Town, organized this year and made possible through untiring efforts of Mrs. Charles Atchley, is striving to bring about a community spirit and feeling of good will amongst students of all schools situated in this area. It strives to fill a need for organized activities among young people. Whether Teen-Town, serving both the public schools, should be an exception in gymnasium privileges is a matter for speculation. Admittedly Mrs. Atchley needs more backing from parents of teenagers in the form of active service. While young groups need recreation they also need supervision and require, at times, a restricting hand.

It is expected that recommendations from the School Board will clarify the problem and that a solution will be worked out in the near future.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY DEAR SON, FRANCIS THOMAS CREEL, Born March 5, 1908, Died March 7, 1952

You suffered hours son, Yes, hours of pain, To wait for him, but all in vain. 'Til God in His Mercy knew what was best, He called you home with Him to rest. Time may heal my broken heart and make the wound less sore, But time can never stop the longing for the loved one who is gone before. So, day by day, as evening shadows fall, I ever pray, In Heaven we'll meet again some day. And as I weep in silence, and breathe a sigh of regret, You are mine son, to remember, If the whole world should forget. Sadly missed by Mother.

Council on Youth Hears Reports

At a recent meeting of the Hancock County Council on Youth and children, reports were heard on the library and from the Hancock County Department of Welfare.

The reports were as follows: HANCOCK COUNTY LIBRARY Council on Children and Youth Bay Saint Louis, Miss. Mrs. Katrina McDonald and Miss Loyette Webb.

In response to your request for a brief report from the Hancock County Library, we are submitting the following:

The Bay St. Louis-Hancock Co. Library expended, in the past year $285.50 for books. $208.00 of the amount was spent for 134 children's books, the remaining $77.50 for 81 adult books.

In addition to these, 100 adult books were donated to the library.

On the Bookmobile's four visits to Hancock County during the year they loaned us 331, seventy-five percent of these were children's books.

Fifty-four additional books were borrowed from the Mississippi Library Commission for individual use of borrowers.

The year's circulation for youth was 5468 books and adults 2216.

Several Boy Scouts were taught how to bind books which enabled them to win a Scout merit badge.

Yours truly,
Louise A. Crawford,
Librarian.

SERVICE TO CHILDREN BY HANCOCK COUNTY WELFARE DEPARTMENT

During the year January 1 through December 31, 1952, the Child Welfare Division of the Dept. of Public Welfare received 56 requests for service which affected 156 children. Of these, services were given and completed on 24 cases involving 75 children; 30 of the original 75 children still active cases in which continued service is being rendered. The above requests were made for various reasons and we would like to list below these reasons and the number of cases which were handled on that basis.

1. Mother or father absent from home due to desertion, 8 cases.
2. Delinquency, 3 cases.
3. Neglect, 3 cases.
4. Runaway child, 4 cases.
5. Financial assistance, free lunches, clothing, groceries, etc., 17 cases.

6. Medical aid, 7 cases.

7. Uncontrollable child, 3 cases.

8. Child in home of non-relative, 1 case.

9. Mentally disturbed child, 1 case.

10. Unmarried mother, 1 case.

11. Aid in securing employment for teen ages, 1 case.

12. Placement of children outside their own homes, 4 cases.

13. Out of town inquiry, 3 cases.

Most of these requests for service are received from parents or relatives, but also they are received from the schools Health Department, Chancery Clerk, Red Cross, Sheriff's, Churches, out of town agencies, and many others.

At the present one of the biggest programs in Child Welfare is the foster home program. A foster boarding home is a family home in which the parents have met certain specifications of the department to be approved for giving care to children. This involves adequate space and housing, good health and a temperament which will enable foster parents to love children who, because of their past troubles, may be difficult to care for. These foster parents receive a small board payment, ranging from $20 to $40 per month, depending on the needs of the child. Of this amount, 25% is paid by local funds and 75% by matched state and federal funds.

During the past year Hancock County had 14 children in foster care at different times. A total of $769.00 was spent by the County for the board alone of these children during this year.

In addition the following amounts were spent on these children for various purposes:

Clothing $329.91
Medicine 67.67
School Supplies 6.50
Camping 44.75
Transportation 9.75
Christmas 35.98

Including the $769.00 for boarding care this would mean $1468.56 was spent on Hancock County foster children alone during the past year.

In addition to this amount, $531.86 was spent on children.

In addition to this amount, $351.86 was spent on children other than foster children. In this category the money was distributed as follows:

Clothing $34.84
Medical needs 124.49
Groceries 189.53
Transportation 3.00

$351.86

We now have seven children in foster care. Five of these children were removed from their own homes because of neglect by the parents and have been in foster homes for two years. The other two children were placed in foster homes by the youth court because of delinquency.

Under House Bill 512 Hancock County Welfare Dept. was eligible to receive a certain amount of money to be appropriated by the county Board of Supervisors. The amount of money granted each month is left to the discretion of the Board of Supervisors and at the present the Welfare Department is receiving $100 a month. This money is used for foster homes care; care of children in their own homes on an emergency basis, and for medical care when this care is not of long duration. The people in the country are becoming more and more aware of these services and realize that it has been necessary for the department to dig deep into a surplus they were able to accumulate when the program first went into effect. In some instances parents or relatives of foster children have contributed to their support while in foster homes but all are not mentally and physically able to do so.

In the Public Assistance Division

Their majesties, King and Queen Tristan, rulers of the Pass Christian Teen-Town Canteen's Krewe of Tristan Ball were Charles Mangum and Joan Benigno.

Rabies Is Fatal Disease, Dr. Shipp Explains

by: DR. C. M. SHIPP

At the last session of the State legislature, a law was passed to control rabies, (Hydrophobia) in dogs. This law applies to every county in the state.

The legislature delegated the responsibility of enforcing this law to the state board of health. The county health departments are responsible for this comprehensive program, which entails the employment of additional personnel and requires funds for financing in every county. The law requires the vaccination of every dog in the state; this is a big undertaking and has required several months to organize the program in every county. The towns in each county are to furnish quarters for the rabies dogs picked up by the rabies control officer. The counties set up a revolving fund to be spent for expenses in vaccinating dogs. The fee for vaccination will be $1.50 for each dog. This money is turned into the revolving fund and will be added the same as all county and state funds. Clinics or places where dogs are to be vaccinated are convenient for the people in the rural areas; a schedule will be printed at a later date. About 50 stations have been scheduled in Hancock County; the dog population will determine number of vaccination stations. Law requires that the vaccination be done by a competent person selected by the state board of health. A certified vaccine of known potency must be used. A tag is issued for each dog with a duplicate certificate on record. This explains in detail the provisions of the law and other parts of the program.

Now I want to tell you something about rabies, a disease that a lot of people do not understand. Some will say "I never saw a case of rabies in domestic animals or the human being." Let's get the facts about this. Your state board of health laboratory at considerable cost, has been shipping out 5,000 treatments of 14 doses per treatment each year to the people in this state that have been exposed to rabies and require treatment. Three or four people in this state die every year from rabies. One this year from Yazoo County died in the Baptist hospital in Jackson. No animal, man or domestic, has ever developed this disease and recovered; death is inevitable. The worst part of this is that violent uncontrollable convulsions precede death three or four days. About one in every four bitten by a known rabies infected dog will have rabies; because so many are bitten through their clothing some protection is obtained, but a person who takes the chance of one in four when you understand the disease once developed cannot be cured and ends in death.

The poison causing rabies does not travel throughout the body in the blood stream; if this were so the disease could not be treated by any known methods of modern medicine. The poison travels to the brain, which is the vital site of the infection, through the nerve trunks and their affiliates or nerve fibers. Every nerve is covered by a sheath or what may be called a sleeve and it is between the nerve trunk and this sleeve that it moves slowly to the brain. This is a slow process requiring from about forty days to several months in bites on the hand or foot. The vaccine that is given does not immunize you by itself, but it does have a remote action. It makes your own body cells produce the protecting antibodies; it is like the starter on your automobile, it starts the engine which in turn moves the car. It takes some time for the vaccine to start this process. All vaccines of every kind follow this process; that is why bites on the face or neck are dangerous—the location is so close to the brain that there is no time to start this long drawn out process.

There is another problem that bothers your family physician—he is using the most dangerous of all vaccines and may be facing a tragedy. Several patients were lost last year in one of our sister states through the use of rabies virus. We have a doctor in this state that has been paral-ized for 20 years, caused by the use of this vaccine. So you see that the doctor is on a spot every time he has a patient exposed to rabies. He alone must make the decision, ever mindful of what can happen if he does not. Since we have to face a hazard either way we choose, why not do away with it altogether or cut down the number of exposures to the very minimum.

The rabies control program has been organized in Hancock and Pearl River counties as one unit with one control officer in charge of both counties. The work in Pearl River is about completed for the present and will begin in Hancock some time in April. We trust that your county health department will have the complete cooperation of every citizen in the county. If we can do as well here as in Pearl River, the program will be a success.

WASHINGTONS. FAREWELL ADDRESS

On February 22nd, in pursuance of a long established custom, the House and Senate met in their respective chambers for the one and sole purpose of hearing the reading of George Washington's famous Farewell Address. Each year the Speaker and the Vice-President appoint some member, usually of their own political faith, to read this famous document, rich in wise counsel and patriotic fervor, before the assembled Members. This year the gentleman from Kentucky, Mr. Cooper, performed that duty in the Senate while the gentleman from Virginia, Mr. Poff, (both new members) performed a same solemn duty in the House.

While, of course attendance at these sessions, like all others, is not compulsory, it is gratifying to note that most members find the time to consider again these wise admonitions of the sage of Mount Vernon. This traditional performance is without question a splendid and profitable observance of the Birthday of the greatest of all Americans.

WASHINGTON'S PRAYER

While Washington's Farewell Address is one of the most familiar of Washington's utterances, there is another not so well known, "A Prayer For Our Country," by the man who ranks first in the hearts of his countrymen. And while changing conditions in the affairs of men and nations subject this farewell address to debate as to some of its provisions, particu-

No...The Bible Is NOT Our Sole Guide!

Catholics have a genuine love and respect for the Bible. It could not be otherwise, for the Catholic Church is the Mother of the Bible. But we do not agree with the modern theory that the Bible is the one and only source of religious truth.

The Gospel of St. John, for example, says: "...there are many other things which Jesus did which are not written in this book." And St. Paul said: "Stand fast; and hold the traditions which you have learned, whether by word, or by our epistle" (II Thess. 2:15).

Christianity began with the coming of Christ—not with the writing of the Bible. And Christ had established His Church... which St. Paul called "the pillar and mainstay of the truth". Long before any of the books of the New Testament had been written. The Savior did not command us to read anything, but He did command us to hear His Church.

This does not mean, of course, that the Bible is not extremely valuable. It does mean, though, that the Bible is not... and was not intended to be... the sole source of Christian teaching and belief. The Church had existed 1600 years, in fact, before the theory was advanced that the Bible should be the sole guide to Christian believers.

Early century Christians never saw the complete Bible. It was 400 years after Christ died before the books of the Bible were assembled into their present form. And it was 1400 years before printing was invented and the mass distribution of the Scriptures became possible. If Christ had intended the Bible to be the sole guide to His teaching, would He have allowed this delay—permitting millions of people to die in ignorance of the printed Word?

The answer is, of course, that Christ established His Church to carry on His mission and spread His teaching. And while the Bible is the inspired Word of God, there are certain truths taught and exemplified by Christ which it does not record... which will be found in the life, practice and teaching of Christ's Church—traditions dating back to the days of the Apostles and antedating the printing of the Bible.

ly with reference to the conduct of our foreign affairs, there can be no debate about the appropriateness of his famous prayer. It is as applicable and appropriate today as it was when uttered more than one hundred and fifty years ago. The supplication of the founder of the United States to Almighty God in those troublesome days should be repeated by every Christian American today. It is as follows:

"Almighty God, who hast given us this good land for our heritage, we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with notable industry, sound learning and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties, and fashion into one united people the multitudes brought out of many kindreds and tongues. Embue with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy name we entrust the authority of Government, that there may be peace and justice at home, and that through obedience to Thy law, we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth. In the time of prosperity fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in Thee to fail; all of which we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

These Exciting Times

Though the Korean crisis casts its long, dark shadow across the path we all travel to disturb our souls and upset our economy, we do live in one of the exciting eras of world history.

This is the age of television, jet propulsion, atomic vision and revolutionary ideas. In no other period has science performed such miracles. Since World War II technology progress has advanced by leaps and bounds, and the engineers and inventors tell us we are on the verge of even greater developments with more surprising achievements to come.

In a topsy-turvy world the United States of America has assumed leadership and enjoys an overflowing prosperity with a growing confidence in the future.

Our population grows faster than anyone anticipated a few years back, with a 19 percent increase since 1940. There are more people employed than at any time in our past, 65 million of them, with more money to spend than they ever had before.

In addition to Federal Government expenditures for defense and foreign aid, state and local governments are far behind schedule in building streets, roads, schools and hospitals to meet the needs of its multiplying population.

And the American people, ever striving for higher standards of living, have an insatiable appetite for buying the amazing things our dynamic industry produces. Stimulated by effective advertising and aggressive salesmanship they are willing to spend their money for the things that give them material satisfaction and a fuller life.

And whether some of us like it or not, it is nevertheless true that the political turnover of November and the changes it wrought in Washington have provided fresh leadership and the promise of a more efficient and economical government.

What other country on earth could have withstood this political shock with so little confusion? These signs of times should give us encouragement, for they make for confidence in the future and a renewed respect for the integrity of the American dollar, all of which points to an expanding economy and expanding opportunities.

These are, indeed, exciting times in which to dream, to build and save. And it's always safe to fortify one's future...one's future against its surprises...with a good bank balance.

Explains Law at Rotary Meeting

State Representative Walter James Phillips spoke on the Motor Responsibility Act at the meeting of the Rotary last Wednesday. He was the guest of James Normand.

Phillips, in explaining the Act said that persons involved in an accident must prove that they are financially able to pay for damages by producing a policy with a reliable insurance company, generally called a 5-10-5; or they must deposit $15,000 with a State treasurer and be self-insured; or another method is to put up a surety bond, either made by a reliable company or by two persons with property equal to the amount required.

A driver's license, once revoked after an accident, can be renewed if a judgment is passed and the person is held free; if a judgment is rendered and costs paid; if a judgment is obtained and a written agreement is obtained saying that they will pay; or if no suit is brought one year after the accident.

This law is intended to protect the driver, the speaker added. Where this act has gone into effect in all states except Massachusetts, there has been no increase in insurance rates. Mississippi was the second to last of the 48 states to approve this law.

Members of the Board of Directors elected to serve for the year were Lambert T. Boyd, Robert L. Hamilton, David McDonald, H. H. Stattuck, Carl Smith and Kenneth Whitfield.

Bookmobile Comes To Bay March 5

The new State Bookmobile was in Bay St. Louis Thursday, Mar. 5, and everybody was invited to come and explore it.

A bookmobile is an extremely large van, attractively fitted up with thousands of books, that goes from community to community bringing literature of all sorts to places where people otherwise might not have access to good reading.

The bookmobile carries fiction and non-fiction, new books and old. Although Bay St. Louis has its own library, it would never be able to provide its patrons with the variety of reading that it does, if it were not for the Bookmobile.

This fascinating library on wheels was parked in front of the Gulf Chevrolet Thursday, March 5, from 10:00 to 11:00 a. m., and everyone is urged to come in and see for himself what fun it can be to drive a library around the country.

Last week, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hille attended the Rotarian luncheon in New Orleans where they heard an address by Lord Milner.

Knowledge - A Virtue For Man's Improvement

by DR. C. M. SHIPP

What is the greatest asset of the human race, the one thing that has contributed most to the progress of civilization since the beginning of time?

It is knowledge that makes life more agreeably pleasant and delightful.

Knowledge which is fundamentally on education, is pyramided, piled up from generation to generation until it reaches perfection. The man that makes a contribution in pure science by one original thought and invention would never recognize the original article once others began to improve on it. The original thought is the gem in the rough.

Education is the basis of all knowledge whatever the field or line of endeavor. Without education and knowledge of the records of the past and the blue prints of the present that go with it, civilization would stagnate, worse than that it would slide backwards. This is why education is so essential and why people in all walks of life are interested in every phase of learning.

Why does the rich man, when he contemplates relinquishing his hold on his worldly possessions decide to endow institutions of learning with vast sums of money? It is his expression of appreciation and gratitude for the privilege of living in a land where life has been made good by the wide spread of knowledge. The investment is sensible and expresses the confidence he has in the future. It is a contribution to those that will follow. Regardless of education or that refined state of wisdom or the low state of any man, we all hate ignorance, the constant comparison of poverty and sickness two of the greatest evils that plague the human race. Knowledge is the only virtue that will improve the state of man.

Leaders participating were Mrs. Dennie Tonkel and her assistant,

During the next twelve months your telephone company expects to expand its facilities to provide new telephones for approximately 5000 additional rural homes and business houses in Mississippi.

That will mean an average increase of approximately 400 rural telephones a month in the State.

This will be the eighth year of Southern Bell's far-reaching program of rural telephone expansion and improvement in Mississippi. Month after month, we have kept the work going.

Today there are four times as many rural telephones in Mississippi as there were just seven years ago and we're still working to provide more and better rural telephone service.

Nowadays you can call a lot more telephones than in 1945... and the price has gone up far less than most things you buy.

WAVELAND NEWS
MISS C. TURCOTTE

Dear Big Sister:

Today there is a stillness and oddity to our lives for gone from our midst is you, who was a fine of character, and who with your sunny smile, your courage, and guiding hand helped to lead us in what we are today; but Big Sis, there is comfort in your passing for we feel that God knows best and that he has a greater task for you to perform above. With these thoughts in mind, "Thou will be done on earth as it is in heaven," a job well done so early in life, and memories of your unselfishness and understanding of our fellowmen, we leave your soul to God, and your body we return to your Native land to rest forever amid the winter rains and chilly dampness, the summer heat and breezes, and the eternal whispering of the pines.

So Big Sister, rest in peace for we feel sure that God will give us strength to carry on where you left off, and lead us to do it the way you would want us to.

COUNTY AGENTS NOTES

By Howard Simmons

POULTRY

For high egg profits next fall, now is the time to get your replacement pullets. Make sure that you buy production and bred hatchery close to home that meets the U. S. Pullorum-Pasteurized requirements of the Mississippi Poultry Improvement Association.

A good pasture for your pullets will save about 50 cents per bird in feed costs. Laidino, White Dutch, grey, lespedeza, ryegrass, Bermuda, carpet grass and oats will all make good grazing for pullets.

Check with your local county agent and make plans now to have a clean range with plenty of grazing available for your replacement pullets.

birthday party were most of her children and grandchildren, among whom were her sons: Fred, George and Camille; her daughters, Mrs. George Cretors and Miss Loretta Curet; grandchildren, George, Charles, Carolyn and Laurie Curet; Mr. and Mrs. James Curet of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curet, Jr. and their children of Gulfport, and a large number of friends, neighbors and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Findley, the latter formerly Miss Adelle Lott, who taught in Kiln school for a number of years, have returned to Fairbanks, Alaska, after visiting Mrs. Findley's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lott in Kiln, and other friends and relatives in this section. They brought with them their baby son, who was making his first trip to this country.

placements when they reach eight weeks of age.

FARM PONDS

Keep the weeds out of your farm pond. Underwater weeds do not sprout in deep water, nor do they grow well in a fertilized pond.

Make sure that no water in your pond is less than two feet deep and fertilize properly. Begin fertilization while water is cold and use 100 to 200 pounds of 8-8-4 per acre. Broadcast fertilizer over weed beds. Make second application of fertilizer two weeks after the first, and a third two weeks after the second.

Additional applications should be made at three-week intervals until the weeds are covered with a green scum-like growth. Then stop fertilizing.

Get rid of water lilies and similar plants by cutting off leaves several times during the summer. In water more than three feet deep it will take five to six cuttings to get rid of the plants. In shallower water it might be necessary to continue the cutting part of the next summer.

To control shore line weeds make sure that no water in your pond is less than two feet deep. Then set out a strip of centipede grass at least three feet wide along the shore of your pond. This grass is better than Bermuda as it does not grow down

ANT CONTROL

Do you have trouble from imported fire ants—mound builders? These ants build large mounds that will damage machinery—especially mowers.

These ants may seriously damage home gardens and truck crops. Their stings are painful. You can get rid of them at a cost of only two or three cents per pound. The poison can be applied anytime. Use five or ten percent chlordane dust, 40 percent wettable chlordane powder, or 45 percent chlordane emulsion concentrate when treating individual mounds.

For area treatments, use either dust or spray. Apply two to four pounds of technical chlordane per acre. Do not graze livestock for two weeks after treatment.

Dusts are more effective in heavy soils and liquids more effective in sandy soils.

For dusting individual mounds, first sprinkle dust over area about two feet wide around mound. Then tear down mound with hoe and treat all exposed soil. Examine area in about three weeks and treat any survival mounds.

For liquid treatment of individual mounds, you can use a bucket or a spray rig. Wet areas around base of mound with mixture. Then open top of mound and pour in enough poison to saturate inside of mound. It will take about three gallons of the mixture for a large mound.

For more specific details on controlling these ants and on how to mix your poisons, ask your county agent for a copy of Extension Publication 249, "Imported Fire Ant Control."

All college courses are not offered on the campus or in the classroom at Mississippi Southern College. Working toward their degree by doing their field work were 2 southern seniors who were with Coast Electric Power Association's Home-Electric Economists, Miss Loyette Webb.

Miss Vivian Duckworth and Miss Sue Dees were in Bay St. Louis for this field work. This field work is a required course and is designed to give the girls an opportunity to observe what the home economist does and participate in various activities.

This work has included observing a freezer demonstration by Mrs. Ann P. Felder of State College for Home Demonstration Clubs of Hancock County and an ironer demonstration by Miss Martha Young, home economist for Ironite Distributor of New Orleans, giving small appliance demonstrations and study center talks in rural schools, radio and Home Demonstration Club work.

Friday, February 6, was a big day for the second year home economics girls from Woolmark School and for the two senior girls from Mississippi Southern College.

The girls and their teacher, Mrs. May, spent the day in the Coast Electric Power Association kitchen and laundry. Miss Duckworth and Mrs. Dees showed the girls how to operate the appliances in the kitchen and laundry.

When the students arrived, waffles were made in the mixer, cooked in the electric waffle iron, and coffee was made in an electric vacuum coffee maker. After serving, Vivian and Sue explained the range and the roaster-oven. They prepared complete oven meals for the girls' lunch.

The pupils were shown briefly how to use the disposal unit and the refrigerator; Miss Webb then demonstrated the correct way to free a focus and how to use an ironer.

After demonstrating the washer, dryer and two irons, the students from Woolmark practiced using the various irons, boards and roller irons.

These five weeks of on-the-job training have shown the senior college students the practical applications of principles which have been learned in classes while on campus.
